DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 3-10 and 12-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,277,919 to Dillon et al.

4. This patent teaches polymer processing additives which incorporate fluoropolymer compositions. The claimed fluoropolymer having greater than 75% vinylidene fluoride is suggested at column 6 lines 3+. The claimed poly(oxyalkylene) polymer is suggested at column 8 lines 53+. The use of the processing additive in thermoplastic polymers is discussed at column 7 lines 1+. The difference between this disclosure and the claimed invention is that there is no anticipatory example. The claims are prima facie obvious from this disclosure because each of the claimed ingredients is discussed and suggested to be used in combination with one another.

There are no results of record which rebut the prima facie case of obviousness.
